Liver Trouble Remedy Free

Any intelligent person can be his own doctor in the ordinary case of liver trouble, for the symptoms cannot be mistaken. If the white of the eye becomes yellowish, if the skin becomes sallow, if pimples and blotches appear, if the bowels do not move, if you have sick headache, if you are bilious, you may be sure that your liver is torpid or inactive.

The quickest and surest remedy yet found for the cure of liver trouble or any of its symptoms is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, the great herb laxative compound. This wonderful remedy is not only a laxative, but a tonic as well. It will start the flow of gastric juice, thereby soon enabling the living to do its work naturally. A bottle of this great liver remedy can be bought of any druggist for 50 cents or $1, and in many cases a single bottle has cured a chronic case.

For example, John W. Lee, 519 S. Pennsylvania ave., Indianapolis, Ind., had a stubborn and very long-standing case of liver trouble, with pimples, blotches, jaundice, etc., and it cured him. Mrs. B. Finchum, Jackson, Ky., says the same of it. Thousands of families keep it in the house against just such an emergency, as you can never tell when some member of the family will need a good laxative.

In order to have you or any other sufferer from the liver make a test of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin without personal expense, Dr. Caldwell will send you a free test bottle if you will send your name and address. The sample will show you how pleasant it is to take, how gently it works. It will start you on the cure of your trouble and convince you that you have found a cure. That is the object of the sample, and the doctor urges you to send for it today.

There is anything about your ailment that you don't understand, or if you want any medical advice, write to the doctor, and he will answer you fully. There is no charge for this service. The address is Dr. W. E. Caldwell, 509 Caldwell bldg., Monticello, Ill.

By a score of 7 to 0 the Moberly Cubs were beaten in a ball game Friday by the Macon nine.

Thos. J. Sims, a citizen of Huntsville, fell Wednesday night and broke his collar-bone.

Leonard, young son of Clem Nelson, fell from a bicycle in Moberly and struck his head against the curbing, rendering him unconscious for several hours.

B. D. Proctor of near Hibgee sued the estate of B. A. Guerin for $1,100 for care of Mr. Guerin for the last 13 years of his life. Mr. Proctor was awarded judgment for $400.

Y. H. Harvey in Chillicothe Saturday night and secured $3 in money without awakening anyone. He also took two pairs of trousers, having gained entrance through a window.

The editor of the Triplet Tribune had a guest from Armstrong last week, but as we are familiar with an editor's bill of fare, we'll bet a milk shake against a mill-dam that the poor fellow left Triplet hungrier than he was when he came.

Mrs. Lulu Miller has filed suit against the Wabash Railroad Co. for $10,000 for the death of her husband, Thos. Miller, who, while working on the St. Charles Wabash bridge, was killed, she alleges, through negligence on the part of other employees.

The Triplet Tribune quotes N. Alter as saying that the fellow who advises the farmers that have land liable to overflow to plant it with alfalfa as the flood has no injurious effects upon it, don't know what he is talking about. Mr. Alter states that the recent flood completely destroyed his alfalfa patch in the bottom.

The Salisbury Press-Spectator tells of a mad-dog scare during which considerable excitement was caused in the east part of that town Wednesday when it was learned that Thos. Vandeventer's dog had gone mad. The maddened canine bit a dog belonging to Bion Fowler. Mr. Fowler took no chances and immediately killed it. Mr. Vandeventer's dog so far as we are able to learn is still at large, though parties have been searching for it. We understand that A. J. Shoemaker had a dog that showed symptoms of rabies Monday and was promptly killed by its owner.

There was a brief reference to the arrest and incarceration of Annie Kendrick, a magdalen, in this paper last week. It was stated that the woman had been confined in the city jail for eight days before being transferred to the county jail. The woman herself says that was a mistake; that she was put in the town lock-up on Monday and taken to the county jail the following Thursday. She said while in the city jail she was given a ham-sandwich at meal time and a cup of coffee when she asked for it. She was very much frightened while there because of the acts of a negro who seemed to want to break in prison. It was stated by the police that this woman was a notorious character; that she cursed and smoked cigarettes and made herself a general nuisance. Her fine and costs amounted to $18 and she was sent to jail for 18 days, her time being up Thursday. The police judge says that the two boys who were captured with her each put up $7.50, and were released. No further attempt will be made to prosecute them. The Kendrick woman was seen in jail Wednesday morning. There is nothing vicious about her face and nothing attractive. She is about 25 or 26 years old and of German parentage.—Macon Times-Democrat.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

Miss Blanche Owen of Brunswick is recovering from her attack of typhoid fever.

Mr. W. S. Hall, aged 68 years, died Saturday at her home in Hale. Deceased was a native of Pennsylvania and is survived by her husband and four children.

Terrill Epperly, a Clifton Hill farmer, was in Sears' drug store at that place two weeks ago and Mr. Sears played a joke on him by placing a few drops of medicine on his collar that soaked through to the skin and burned terribly. Epperly brought some calamus and some Indian turnip to town last week. Everybody else was chewing calamus and Sears got a piece of Indian turnip. The joke was turned.

Minich Bros.' livery barn in Marceline burned Saturday morning early. Arthur Minich and Claude Myers were saved from burning to death by the pawing of an intelligent horse. The building was half burned when they were aroused. Sixteen horses were saved. An insurance of $1,750 about half covers the loss. The restaurant of Joseph Cavanaugh next door was also destroyed by the flames. His loss was $300.

Dr. Wood Hutchinson, in the Saturday Evening Post, is responsible for the statement that the germ of tetanus or lock-jaw, is bred in the alimentary canal of the horse, and hence is found in any soil or dirt containing horse manure. No germs have been found in toy pistol caps or in other explosives or on rusty nails, so it is believed that the germs are carried into the wound by dirt from the streets where horses have been. All cuts and bruises should be kept free from street dirt and garden soil that has been manured.

The screams of a woman in wee sma' hours of morning Sunday attracted the attention of Night Marshal Willis of Fayette. On investigation, he found a negress, Annie Shelby, lying near her front door, clad only in a night-dress, saturated in blood and her entrails out. Will Reeves, a sweetheart, crazed with jealousy had attacked the woman while she slept. A dirk, with a 6-inch blade, was found near the door step. It was greasy, but not bloody. The Reeves negroes believe in fine cutlery. Reeves killed his wife and was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary and his brother was hanged at Boonville for a similar offense. Reeves gave himself up to the sheriff.

The Flirt.

The flirt—by which is generally meant the feminine inconstant—is by no means the cold and heartless being of the novelist's misrepresentation. Sir Walter Scott knew better when he wrote that women "in our hours of ease, uncertain, coy and hard to please," is to mankind's pain and sorrow veritably a ministering angel. It is remarkable how often a girl who has had a score of hearts a flutter, a dozen pale flaxen scalps dangling at her girdle, and who is, therefore, set down by her elders as more effervescent and volatile than perfume, makes one of the most domesticable of wives and mothers when her time comes to marry. The face once wreathed with light, mocking laughter becomes beautifully serious over a oracle; the favor that was once dispersed among any number of candidates for her girlish heart and hand becomes a woman's love to be bestowed, for always, upon one man out of the whole wide universe. Flirtation, wisely understood, is perhaps the means by which nature has insured the widest possible range of selection, and hence, in the long run the highest attainable degree of human happiness.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Tall Corn.

The Salisbury Press-Spectator of last week indulges in the following tall story of tall corn:

Since mentioning the little sprig of corn the Mendon man was boasting about in the Constitution some weeks ago, corn-growers have been busy making ladders to reach the top of tall corn stalks to take measurements. Pat Fogelson says that some stalks on his place measure 13 feet. G. L. Friesz of north of town was in town Saturday and told us that one stalk he measured on his premises was 13 feet 7 inches tall, and was 6 1-2 inches in circumference at the bottom, and Mr. Friesz added: "The corn is still a growing." Now we are satisfied the limit has not yet been reached, and we want to hear of some that will go 14 or 15 feet.

The Right Salt.

A Methodist bishop was recently a guest at the home of a friend who had two charming daughters. One morning the bishop, accompanied by the two young ladies, went out in the hope of catching trout. An old fisherman, out for the same purpose, wishing to appear friendly called out:

"Ketchin' many, pard?"
The bishop, drawing himself together his full length, replied, "Brother, I am a fisher of men."
"You've got the right bait, all right," was the fisherman's rejoinder.

The Farmer and the Stork.

A farmer placed nets on his newly sown plow lands and caught a quantity of cranes which came to pick up his seed. With them he trapped a stork, also. The stork, having his leg fractured by the net, earnestly besought the farmer to spare his life. "Pray, spare me mister," he said, "and let me go free. My broken limb should excite your pity. Besides I am no crane. I am a stork, a bird of excellent character—aye, one of renown. For was I not honored once by a special message from Theodore?"

"Pooh, pooh," said the farmer. "Your own words convict you, I am a Democrat. Moreover, if legend be true, you have visited this place too often, for I have 10 children. Get ready for the ax."

And he slew the bird.
Moral—It's a wise stork that knows when he has worn out his welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Bartow and son, Russell, and Mrs. B. H. Smith and Miss Corrinne Herring of Brunswick are now touring the West. Among the places of interest they will visit are Denver, Colo., Yellowstone National park and the Seattle exposition.

In its issue of Monday, June 7, the Kansas City Star, a Republican paper, printed this editorial: "The faith of Nelson Wilmarth Aldrich in the perfidy and temerity of the Republican party and in the subservieny of the people to green goods politics has to be witnessed to be believed. The history of the American government furnishes no parallel to the insults which are now being heaped upon the doctrine of popular government by the senatorial boss from Rhode Island."

THOSE Republican papers which are "making believe" that the party has fulfilled its tariff pledges have a thankless task. Their efforts are absurd and fruitless.

THE "plighted faith" of the Republican party looks like 30 cents.

At any rate labor remains on the free list in the new tariff bill.
